Rocky Mountain Bead Society

History

The Rocky Mountain Bead Society (RMBS) was founded in 1992 by Past President Leslie Sartor to help people interested in bead study and beading techniques find a way to share knowledge and explore new dimensions. Twenty-five people came to the first meeting. Today, we have nearly 200 members and our society continues to grow.

We provide exciting, informative, and relevant programs and workshops with locally and nationally recognized artists in their fields. We sponsor a bead bazaar and promote bead education through programs, classes and workshops. We have a member bookstore and library. Society members frequently bring beads and their latest creations to show and tell.

The RMBS has bead lovers of all descriptions. Our Society includes people who make beaded jewelry, who collect ancient beads, who make lampworked glass, who wrap wire, and kneaders and bakers of polymer clay (PC) or precious metal clay (PMC). Our membership includes fine jewelers, silversmiths, metal masters, authors, weavers and people who create wearable art from seed beads.

The RMBS has given back to the local community and world projects by participating in such projects as making jewelry for residents of local women's shelters, donating to the Boys and Girls Club of America and helping with the Ethiopian HOPE Bracelet Project.

Events, Classes, and Workshops

The RMBS sponsors Programs and Classes and Workshops by local and national artists, collectors and bead experts. We also sponsor a nationally recognized Bead Bazaar held each April.

Communication

Our web site, Facebook page, Linked In and emails provide constant communication of our available events, meetings, workshops, news of authors and expert lectures along with providing sources for buying beading supplies. It also lists details and applications for membership in the RMBS. People can register for our classes and workshops on the Website.

The Purpose of the RMBS

- Advance the study of and education about beads
- Encourage and promote public appreciation for beads and the art of beading
- Disseminate information about beads and beading
- Develop and administer programs concerning beads and beading
- Establish and maintain an RMBS book collection and library
- Publish and preserve writings about the history of beads and beading

Volunteers

We are a society made up of volunteers and rely on our members to run our organization, led by a board with committees at the heart of it all.

Membership in the RMBS is annual and starts when you sign-up. Membership fees are reasonable and multi-tiered for individuals, families, business owners who may join the society by completing the membership form with the applicable fees.

RMBS has entertaining and helpful programs during its monthly meetings featuring local and national artists. These meetings are usually on the third Thursday of the month from 6:00-9:00pm at TACTile Arts. RMBS members enjoy a 20% discount at the RMBS book table on meeting nights. Local participating shops often offer society members discounts of up to 10%.
